IS TOO MODEST TO ADMIT IT

Frank J. Hall is Really Democratic Candidate For Nomination
For Governor.

UNASSUMING ONE, HOWEVER

Believes it Beneath Dignity of One Who Would be Governor to Make "Scramble."

CHANCE ON A COMPROMISE

Does First Seeking This Week by Mailing Letters to Friends—
Has District Solid.

Lieutenant Governor Frank J. Hall
of Rushville is undoubtedly a candidate for the Democratic nomination
for governor.

He is too modest to admit it. He is the unassuming man who aspires to the honor which the commonwealth of Indiana could confer on him if it chose. It is the lieutenant governor's philosophy of life that it is beneath the dignity of any man who aspires to be the head of the Hoosier State to make a scramble for the nomination and bring himself into disrepute.

The lieutenant governor has been urged by prominent Democratic party workers all over Indiana to seek the nomination; friends of his in the legislature at the close of the last general assembly declared to him that he would be the next Democratic nominee; he has been assured the solid delegate vote of the sixth congressional district; he has the advantage of the two candidates already mentioned in that he has been in politics for thirty years and has political friends in every county in the State; he presided well as president of the senate in the last legislature and made many friends; all of these facts have been revolved over in the mind of Gov. Hall and he has reflected that he might be the governor of Indiana for the next four years to come.

But far be it from the second highest official in Indiana to seek such an honor. But he admits that he has done a little seeking in the last few days. Since the nomination has been buzzing in Democratic circles Mr.
Hall has been receiving a heavy mail daily. His friends have been almost mandatory. They are unanimous that he should enter the race.

And judging from a conversation with the lieutenant governor it appears that he has about decided that he should be in the race for the nomination. And he practically is an avowed candidate although he hates to admit it. Mr. Hall says that he was not surprised when he began to receive communications from his political friends urging him to come out for the nomination. He knew that he had made friends in the legislature and he felt that they were the sort which would stand by him.

He answered them all alike, he says. The lieutenant governor told them he would make no scramble for the nomination. It is to be the will of the people that he be the Democratic nominee, he wrote his inquiring friends, he would most willingly accept the honor. In fact, he began to feel that the will of the people was being expressed in the letters he has been receiving. He answered them all in the same tone.

And although Gov. Hall did not say so, he is really seeking, in a mild form, the nomination. This is revealed by the fact that only yesterday he sent out a large number of letters to his political friends on his own initiative. They were not answers to inquiries; they were letters setting forth his views in regard to the situation.

The lieutenant governor addressed
them to Democratic county chairmen
and prominent Democratic workers.
He declared that he would gladly be the candidate and that, if it were the wish of the party and its adherents, he would be only too glad to get into the race. But, mind you, it will not be the sort of race other candidates for the nomination have made. It will be a very dignified contest and a very unassuming racer will the lieutenant governor be. He set forth his own original views in these letters to the effect that he did not believe any man worthy of being the governor of Indiana should make a scramble for the nomination which would bring him into disrepute.

"I am sure," said the lieutenant governor this morning, "that no one in Indiana would appreciate being governor more than I. I have thought over the question in a careful and intelligent manner. By being associated with the legislative department of the State government as president of the senate I became acquainted with many of the duties of the office and I think I could fulfill them to the satisfaction of Indiana Democracy."

Sam Ralston of Lebanon has been an avowed candidate for the nomination for some time. He is known to be the candidate of the Crawford Fairbanks-Taggart machine and much discord has arisen in the party recently by the nomination of the Taggart forces. John W. Boehne of Evansville, congressman from the Fifth district, recently declared war on the machine politics of Taggart and Crawford Fairbanks and entered the race for the nomination. He has opened headquarters in Indianapolis
and will make a strenuous fight.

"Don't you think you have a rare chance as a compromise?" was asked Mr. Hall.

"Well, perhaps I have," he replied,
"I might stand some show in that respect."

It was pointed out to him that the two candidates are at war with one another and that they will undoubtedly split the party's forces and draw a line which can not be eradicated by nothing other than a compromise candidate.

The lieutenant governor was not very forceful in his declarations concerning his chances as a compromise candidate. He preferred rather to talk of the dignity of the office and the worthiness of an unassuming and modest candidate who heeded the call of the people only.

Lieut. Gov. Hall persisted in

PARALYSIS FATAL TO MRS. KINCAID

Mother of Owen Kincaid Dies Following Stroke at His Home in North Morgan Street.

FUNERAL SERVICES PRIVATE

Mrs. Sarah O. Kincaid, 79 years old, died this morning at seven o'clock at the home of her son, Owen Kincaid in North Morgan street, following a stroke of paralysis, which she suffered yesterday. Although she had suffered a stroke previous to the one yesterday, Mrs. Kincaid had apparently been in good health and her death came as a great shock to her many friends. Mrs. Kincaid was a member of the United Presbyterian church. She is survived by one son, Owen Kincaid.

The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at the late residence conducted by the Rev. A. W. Jamieson, and will be private due to the serious illness of Mr. Kincaid. The burial will take place in the Richland cemetery.

May Be Compromise Candidate

LIEUT. GOV. FRANK J. HALL.

INTEREST IS ON INCREASE

As Series of Evangelistic Meetings
Draw to a Close, Crowds Grow Larger Nightly.

NO ACCESSIONS LAST NIGHT

Services at Three Churches Will be Discontinued Tomorrow Night,
According to Plans.

No conversions were reported at any of the three churches last night,
but the ministers say that the interest in the evangelistic services is increasing nightly and the crowds are being augmented each night by people who have not been accustomed to attending. It is the plan to discontinue the meetings at the churches tomorrow night.

Tonight will be the last time R. N.
Rowe will sing at the St. Paul M. E. church. He will leave tomorrow with the Rev. F. B. Stearns for Illinois, where they will conduct a special meeting. Mr. Rowe will sing some special numbers tonight as a part of the special music.

Tonight the Rev. W. H. Wylie will preach on the subject "The Crown of Glory." Last night his subject was
"For Christ or Against." The attendance at this church last night was the largest of the series of meetings.

The attendance at the First Baptist church is increasing with each night's service and a greater interest is manifest. Tonight the Rev. L. B.
Arvin will take for his topic, "Barra-bas or Jesus Who is Called Christ." The evangelist possesses a rich voice and has assisted in the services with solos each night. Tonight he will sing, "He Lifted Me." Last night he delivered a very forceful sermon on the subject, "Five Steps."

Tomorrow night the Rev. Mr. Arvin will begin a series of sermons,
the first one to be on the subject,
"The Second Coming of Christ."

The crowd at the Main Street
Christian church was larger than usual.
The Rev. Cyrus Yocum preached on the subject, "Naaman, the Assyrian," and tonight his topic will be
"Dangers and Beauties of Hopefulness." The meetings will close tomorrow night with a sermon on the subject, "A Dying Hero's Message." Special music is provided at this church each evening.

Unsettled and warmer with local snow or rain tonight or Friday.

HE HAS NO FEAR OF "DARK HORSE"

Linus P. Meredith of Richmond Believes no Opposition Will Appear in Chairmanship Race.

PRACTICALLY HAS JOB CINCHED

Wayne County Will Back Him Solidly
and Number of Delegates Pledge Support.

It seems probable, judging from political sentiment over the Sixth district, that Linus Meredith of this city will be elected chairman of the district at the Cambridge City convention, January 31, without opposition,
says the Richmond Item.

No other aspirant for the position
has come before the Republican voters and as the convention will take place a week from yesterday, there is little likelihood of other candidates presenting their claims for the position in the meantime.

It is highly probable that Meredith will have the solid backing of the Wayne county delegation and will receive substantial support from other counties, assuring his election on the first ballot. He has succeeded in securing the promise of support from other counties, and in the absence of a political rival there is little ground to doubt the sincerity of the pledges
he has received.

In the last month Meredith has canvassed the whole district. From all sides came responses to his request for support. Meredith will revisit Union county to line up delegates there before the convention
next week.

The exclusive race which Meredith has made for the chairmanship led his friends, earlier in the contest, to fear that political enemies were perhaps grooming a dark horse to spring on the convention and stampede the delegates from him to an unknown candidate. This fear has been dissipated by the developments of the last week, and it is believed that Meredith will have clear sailing.

The election of W. L. Risk to the chairmanship of Henry county practically eliminated him from the race.
Risk's name, mentioned in connection with the chairmanship until this week was a disturbing factor to the serenity of Meredith's political ambitions.

Meredith today said that he was satisfied with the choice of Cambridge
City as the place for the convention.

OFFICE IN GOOD CONDITION

State Board of Accounts Compliments Clell Maple.

An interesting item not given in the report of the retiring county recorder Clell Maple, published recently, was the condition of his office as found by the State Board of Accounts. At the time the books were examined, which was for three years, ending Jan. 1, 1911, there was $2.20 which could not be accounted for. The field examiners told Mr. Maple that he was very fortunate because of over half the offices examined in the State the lowest amount that could not be accounted for was $53.80.

DAN WILLIAMS IS FOUND GUILTY

Grand Larceny Trial in Greenfield
Comes to Sudden Termination
After Agreement in Open Court.

FOR KNIGHTSTOWN ROBBERY

The trial of the State of Indiana against Dan Williams, charged with grand larceny, came to a sudden termination Wednesday when the circuit court convened, says the Greenfield Reporter.

The court announced an agreement
in open court, between the attorneys for the State and defendant to withdraw the case from the jury and submit it to the court on the evidence that had been submitted by the State.

The court found the defendant guilty of grand larceny as charged, and announced that the matter of sentence would be taken up later.
The jury which was trying the case was dismissed by the court.

The sudden ending of the case was a surprise to many, who had gathered in the court room to hear the testimony which was of a decided sensational nature Tuesday.

The State had almost completed the introduction of testimony and several witnesses had been summoned
for the defense.

SHOWS HOW WATER WASTE COUNTS UP

Poster Reveals That Small Leak Will Cause Loss of Several Dollars
in a Day.

DISPLAYED BY SUPT. MAHIN

A. T. Mahin, superintendent of the water and light plant, has posted a notice and drawing to show how easily valuable city water may be wasted and the value of the water wasted by a very small leak in a faucet. The notice is at the corner of Main and Third streets.

The poster says a leak of only 1/64 of an inch will waste two gallons of water per hour and will mean a loss of one cent a day. The following are the proportions shown:
One-thirty-second inch leak wastes eight gallons an hour and causes a loss of five cents; 1/16 of an inch leak wastes thirty-four gallons an hour with a loss of twenty-one cents
a day; 1/8 of an inch leak wastes 137 gallons an hour with a loss of eighty-six cents a day; 1/4 of an inch leak causes a waste of 514 gallons per hour and a loss of $3.21 a day, and a 1/2 inch leak wastes 2,057 gallons of water an hour, causing a loss of $12.84.

HONAN SAYS LAW IS VERY DRASTIC

Attorney General Declares Corrupt Practices Act Giving Machinery
to Compel Honesty.

PAMPHLET ON THIS STATUTE

Says Assemblymen Did Not Realize
Just How Drastic They Were Making the Law.

When Thomas M. Honan, attorney-general, completed his preparation of "copy" for a pamphlet to be issued on the new corrupt practices act and turned it over to be published by the governor for distribution among the political committees, candidates and voters, he said:

"It strikes me that the corrupt practices act is the most drastic piece of legislation the State of India ever enacted. If it is properly enforced, there can be no legal use of money in a campaign without there being evidence somewhere on which prosecution can be based. The prosecution, of course, depends on the interest in the community and the zeal and honesty of the prosecuting attorney, but the act certainly gives the citizen plenty of machinery for compelling honesty in the campaign
as far as the expenditure of money is concerned. I don't know where the legislature got the plan of the act, or who drew it, and I doubt if many of the assemblymen knew just how drastic they were making the law, but in the language of the street, they certainly 'put the sign on' the fellow who may wish to use campaign contributions for other than legitimate campaign expenses and the law expressly defines such expenses, and limits legal expenditures to the defined list.

"There will doubtless be considerable minor violation of the law this year, because it is new and its terms are not well understood, and there may be some greater violations, but where there are violations there will be found ample ground for collecting evidence in the events of prosecution."

In his preparation of the "copy"
for the pamphlet, Mr. Honan held pretty closely to the text of the act, changing it only in a few places in order that it might be made to read clearer to the average man, and in other places to express the purpose of a paragraph in fewer words than the legislature used. He made no comments on any of the passages and offered no opinions as to the construction to be placed on any of the sections.

The attorney-general at the same time turned over to the governor a similar preparation of the act by the recent general assembly providing for the registration of voters. The pamphlet will be used as a guide by the campaign officials and committees during the campaign.

Mr. Honan first planned to answer all sorts of conceivable questions concerning the laws, but found the work too great. He said instead he would hold his office in readiness to answer all inquiries, from whatever source, which may be asked concerning the laws.

(2.) What practical purpose did all this ceremony serve?

(3.) Why would it not be a good thing if all children were formally presented to the Lord in the church, in these days?

(4.) Why would Jesus not have submitted to all this form and ceremony, if he had at this time been of mature judgment?

(5.) Verse 25—Are there degrees of holiness in truly good men, and if so, how would you classify them?

(6.) Of which of the real children of God cannot it be said, "and the Holy Ghost was upon him"?

(7.) How would you describe the character of Simeon?

(8.) Verse 26—Do any good people today have revelations, or premonitions, similar to this concerning future events?

(9.) If some good people like Simeon have revelations concerning the future, why may not all good people have them?

(10.) Verse 27—What is the difference when a good man goes to a place "by the Spirit," and when he goes and is only conscious of his own judgment directing him?

(11.) Verse 28—What benefit was it to Jesus for Simeon having taken him in his arms and "blessing God"?

(12.) Verse 29—Why should it be thought wrong for a man in full health, but in great trouble, to pray that he might die?

(13.) If it was right for Simeon to pray for God to let him depart this life, why is it wrong for any aged and infirm person to pray the same prayer?

(14.) If a man is not always ready to die, why is there reason to think he is never ready?

(15.) Verses 30-32—What is the most glorious sight on the earth a Christian can see?

(16.) What effect did the sight of Jesus have upon Simeon, and what effect does it always have upon a penitent sinner?

(17.) What is to-day the greatest civilizing and spiritually uplifting influence in the world, and why do you think so?

(18.) Verses 33-35—Who are those that marvel most at the love and wisdom of Jesus; those who see Him for the first time, or those who have been acquainted with Him for a lifetime, and why is it so? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(19.) What exceptions are there to the rule that God hurts people only that He may help them?

(20.) Verses 36-39—What if any exceptions are there to the rule that when truly spiritual people of any faith hear and understand Jesus, their hearts are always drawn to Him?

GRANDMOTHERS USED SAGE TEA

To Darken the Hair and Restore Gray and Faded Hair to Its Natural Color.

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair and are fast following suit. The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready-to-use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. As a scalp tonic and color restorer this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers. This remedy is sold under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented. If your hair is losing color or coming out, start using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur to-day, and see what a change it will make in a few days' time. This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agents, Hargrove and Mullin.

UP TO AUTO DRIVER TO KEEP A LOOKOUT

Supreme Court Gives Pedestrian Highway Right.

Indianapolis, Jan. 25.—Judgment for $485 in favor of James Reynolds against James Wellington for an injury caused by Wellington running into Reynolds with an automobile while Reynolds was running to catch a streetcar in Anderson, has been affirmed by the supreme court. Wellington argued in the appeal that the complaint failed to show that he owed any duty to Reynolds and that it failed to show that the injury was done by the automobile.

The court says that the complaint shows that Reynolds was in the street to catch a car and while he was running behind the car and attempting to stop it by motioning the conductor, Wellington came from behind with the automobile and ran against and injured him. The court says the pedestrian has a right in the street to board the cars and the driver of the automobile beyond question owes him the duty to avoid running against him.

School Patron Gets Tip From Hurty as to Proper Procedure.

Indianapolis, Jan. 25.—In answer to a complaint from a school patron at Spencerville to the effect that the school authorities laughed at him when he complained to them about his little boy being compelled to occupy a seat in school where his feet could not touch the floor, Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the state board of health, has forwarded a copy of the school laws.

"Show them that, and then if they laugh at you, go to the courts about it," Dr. Hurty advised. "I know how you feel. I have seen school children grow deficient in mental powers and lose their physical strength and weight merely because their feet wouldn't touch the schoolroom floor. Make the school authorities lower the seat your boy occupies."

FIGURING ON THE COST OF LIVING

Basis of Miners' Demand for More Pay.

SCALE COMMITTEE'S REPORT

United Mine Workers of America Are Now Discussing Uppermost Question Which Confronts the 1912 Convention, That of a General Increase in the Wages of All Classes of Labor in and About the Mines.

Indianapolis, Jan. 25.—There is, as indicated by talk of members since the convention assembled, a demand for increased wages in and about the mines, the scale committee of the United Miners' national committee having submitted its report. The report sets out that there has been a steady increase in the cost of living since the last wage scale was fixed; that conditions about the mines have become more onerous and that the introduction of labor saving machinery, the use of gas and oil for fuel, are making unnecessary the long hours of labor at which the miners are now employed. The report takes up many grievances that are purely local and makes a number of demands for their correction.

Among the demands are that all coal be weighed before being screened and paid for on the mine run basis, and that the readjustment of the prices be made on the basis of the actual percentage of screenings as compared with lump coal; a flat 10-cents-a-ton increase at the basing points; 20 per cent increase on all dead work, yardage and day labor; uniform workday and wage scale for all classes of outside and inside day labor; proper readjustment of the machine differential at the basing points in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and western Pennsylvania; uniform day of seven hours at the working place for all classes of inside labor be made the basis of the above scale, based on present prices, five hours to constitute a day's labor on Saturday; weekly payments, coal companies not to have more than two weeks' wages held in their offices at any one time; no limit to the amount of deductions made through the companies' offices for the miners' organizations; no discrimination by the coal companies in the employment of mine workers on account of creed, color or nationality; all local inequalities and internal differences to be referred to the districts affected; contract to be entered into for a period of two years, becoming effective April 1, 1912.

The committee recommends that the demands of the anthracite mine workers, as made by them in the tri-district convention of districts Nos. 1, 7 and 9, held at Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 3, 1911, be made a part of the demands of this convention and that the international officers be authorized and instructed to co-operate with those districts in establishing the same.

THEY DANCED ON

Hammond Wedding Revelers Not Put Out by Death.

Hammond, Ind., Jan. 25.—The death of Vincent Szymanski, aged twenty-seven, a guest at a wedding here, did not disturb the revelry and dancing which followed the ceremony. Frank Winski and Miss Nellie Fleming were married in the rooms on the second floor of Szymanski's saloon. During the festivities following the wedding a street wire fell across the commercial wire which lighted the rooms. Szymanski went down into the saloon to attempt to repair the break and he was instantly killed when he touched the wires. When word of his death reached the dancers some of the women fainted and a few went home, but the majority of the revelers remained and danced until morning.

Paid to Stay Away.

Huntingburg, Ind., Jan. 25.—Ella McDaniel Payne, fugitive witness in the Meredith murder case, was arrested at Evansville. In response to Judge Bretz's questions she said a Rockport attorney offered her $150 if she would remain away until after the case was tried. She is now in jail at Jasper.

Many Indiana Huntsmen.

Indianapolis, Jan. 25.—George W. Miles, state fish and game commissioner, has reported 54,486 hunters' licenses sold in the state during 1911, exclusive of Vanderburg county, which has not reported. This was an increase of 2,593 over the number sold during the preceding year.

Three Robbers Plead Guilty.

Sullivan, Ind., Jan. 25.—Thebert Godfrey, Charles Gorby and Isaac Gorby pleaded guilty to a charge of having robbed the store of V. D. Cummins at Hymera. They received sentences of from one to fourteen years in the state prison.

Glass Factory's Heavy Loss.

Marion, Ind., Jan. 25.—The Standard Co-operative Glass company suffered a heavy loss to its plant when a tank containing sixty tons of molten glass collapsed. The accident will throw 250 men out of work for about a month.

SOUPS FROM PRESERVED MILK.

To a majority of people the use of canned milk seems an extravagant expenditure, but when fresh milk is not obtainable, as it is not in many places removed from civilization, condensed milk is a wonderful boon, and the number of dishes which may be prepared from such milk is legion.

For soups, when wishing a creamed soup, the condensed milk is especially good.

Fish Chowder.—Salt water fish, or salt fish freshened, or any fresh water fish makes delicious chowder. When using fresh fish, clean and remove the hard fins and bones, simmer the bones in water to cover, and cut the fish in two-inch pieces. Cut a fourth of a cup of salt pork in small dice and cook until the fat is extracted; add a small onion, chopped fine, and cook until yellow. Add two cups of sliced and parboiled potatoes, the liquor in which the bones have been cooked; add the fish and cook until the vegetables and fish are tender. Add a cup of condensed milk diluted with a cup of boiling water, a teaspoonful of salt and a little paprika; turn into a soup tureen over a half a dozen crackers. More seasoning will have to be added if the fish is fresh.

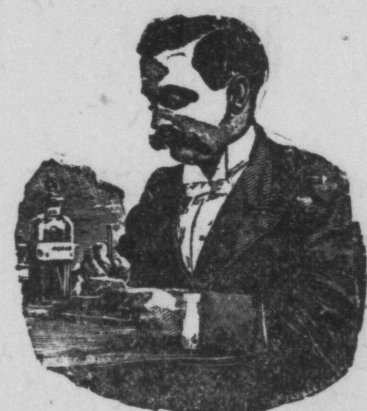

Cream of Corn Soup.—Add a quart of water to a cup of condensed milk and a half can of corn, cook together until thoroughly hot; add a table-spoonful each of flour and butter cooked together, season with salt and pepper and serve hot with croutons.

Cream of Tomato Soup.—Press a cup of cooked tomato through a sieve and heat; add a fourth of a cup of butter and flour cooked together. When well mixed add a cup of condensed milk diluted with a cup of water; cook until boiling hot and serve with buttered toast.

Any vegetable, such as peas, asparagus, potato or celery with condensed milk diluted and a binding of flour and butter added, makes very acceptable soup.

culosis wrought its usual havoc, killing 305 persons in 296 homes and making 145 orphans. Three cases of poliomyelitis were reported during the month. There were 321 cases of diphtheria in 49 counties with 48 deaths. Scarlet fever killed 11 persons in 53 counties, with 314 cases reported.

There were 168 cases of typhoid fever in 50 counties with 50 deaths. 190 deaths were caused by violence, as against 217 for the corresponding months last year. There were five murders, 29 suicides and 156 accidental deaths. Steam railroad accidents were responsible for 34 of the latter.

Eight persons were bitten by rabid dogs, and two cases of developed rabies. One person, an inmate of the Northern Indiana Hospital for the Insane, at Logansport, died of the disease.

The State death rate was 12.1, as against 12.6 for the corresponding month last year. The city rate was 13 and the rural rate, 11.4. The rates for the more important cities were as follows: Indianapolis, 15.4; Evansville, 12.1; Ft. Wayne, 10.8; Terre Haute, 15.9; South Bend, 11.1.

Births for November, just reported, numbered 4,405, with a State rate of 15.2, as against a rate of 18.3 for the corresponding month of last year. The highest rate was from Knox county (31.0) and the lowest from Decatur county (9.7).

The monthly report from the pathological laboratory of the board shows that while the number of suspected brains examined has increased, the percentage of infected specimens has decreased. This is accounted for by the fact that the physicians and veterinarians over the State are using the laboratory more extensively, and having learned to use it, do not take chances where rabies is suspected, but seek scientific proof of the presence or absence of the germs. During 1911, seventy-two persons were bitten by dogs that were later shown to have been rabid. In addition to examinations made at the laboratory, examinations were also made during the year at Purdue and Indiana universities and the medical institutions in the State.

HAVE TEN SMALL POX CASES

Connersville is Startled by Sudden and Unexpected Announcement.

The rather startling announcement that there are ten cases of smallpox in the city was made by local physicians and health authorities Monday, says the Connersville News. The cases are all those of colored people, and are all protected by quarantine, yet it is learned that two or three men, suffering with the ailment in mild form, have been about the street for many days, and to preclude the possibility of an epidemic the physicians urge everyone who has not lately been vaccinated to take that precaution at once.

PRIZES OFFERED FOR BEST ESSAYS

Forty Dollars Will be Awarded by Indiana State Board of Forestry This Year.

TO BE ON FORESTRY SUBJECTS

Contest is Open to School Children of State—Bulletins Received Here.

Bulletins sent out by Charles C. Deam, secretary of the Indiana State Board of Forestry, announcing the annual prize competition, open to all school children of Indiana, for essays bearing on forestry subjects, have been received here. The subject of the essays and the conditions imposed are such that it will be necessary for the children to visit and study woodlands. Prizes aggregating forty dollars will be awarded.

Four $10 prizes will be given, one to pupils of the seventh grade, one to pupils of the eighth grade, one to freshmen and sophomore high school pupils and one to junior and senior high school pupils. The subject of the essays is to be "Woodlot Conditions in the Country in Which I Live and Suggestions For Their Improvement." The essays must be limited to 1,200 words and a copy of the manuscripts is to be in the hands of Mr. Deam not later than Nov. 1, 1912.

Among other things that competitors will be expected to study are the following: To estimate how many trees there are on an acre; whether the stand is too thick or too thin; whether valuable species predominate or species of a low commercial value occupy the ground; whether the stand is composed of promising young timber or the culls of the original forest and the effects of grazing, fires and other detrimental agencies.

Discussing the annual prize essay contest, which is the third, Mr. Deam's letter to persons throughout the State reads:

"It is hoped that our plan will call attention of many to the abuse and neglect of the woodlots, which are the source of our future timber supply. Ordinarily, the woodlot is given no attention. It is grazed to such an extent that all young growth is destroyed, and the stand is composed of culls and to effort is made to seed the open places in the woods with valuable species.

"It is safe to estimate that the average woodlot is not producing one-fourth of what it is capable of producing. When we consider that there are 4,400,000 acres of woodland in Indiana, worth on an average of $20 an acre and representing an investment of $88,000,000 earning one-fourth of what it should, it becomes apparent that measures should be taken to secure this loss in our natural resources."

BARN IS BURNED.

The barn of T. B. Wilkinson at their warehouse, near Knightstown, was burned, destroying three valuable horses and injuring another so that it will probably die. Steve Powers was burned about the head and face in his attempt to save the horses. The loss will amount to $1,200, partly covered by insurance.

HOUSE ADOPTS BRYAN POLICY

Publicity of Indorsements of Judiciary Applicants.

ACCEPT CULLOP'S AMENDMENT

Indiana Representative's Proposition to Make Public All Recommendations Coming to President Regarding Applicants For Place in Federal Judiciary Met Instant Favor in House, Which Recognized Bryan's Hand.

Washington, Jan. 25.—An amendment to a judiciary bill providing that "before the president shall appoint any district, circuit or supreme judge, he shall make public all indorsements made in behalf of any applicant," has been adopted by the house.

Mr. Bryan has repeatedly urged the enactment of a law of this sort. While President Taft was on his western trip last summer Mr. Bryan made a public speech on the subject to which Mr. Taft replied. On the 8th of this month Mr. Bryan, speaking at the Jackson day banquet here, urged this scheme for publicity of judicial indorsements, but the Democrats did not anticipate that one of their number would spring the plan so soon. Representative Cullop of Indiana, a Bryan follower, turned the trick. He offered the above amendment to the Evans bill, which creates an additional district judge in Chicago and drops one circuit judgeship, the latter being one caused by the resignation of Judge Grosscup.

This, it was pointed out, will save the government $1,500 a year, as the salary of a district judge is $6,000 and that of a circuit judge $7,500, while at the same time relieving the present crowded condition of business in the district court. Only thirteen Democrats voted against the Cullop amendment, which was carried, 148 to 82.

Practically all the Republican insurgents voted with the Democrats for the amendment. There was very little debate on the proposition, the hour being late and the house having pretty well exhausted itself with arguments for and against an amendment offered by Minority Leader Mann, proposing to increase the compensation of district judges from $6,000 to $7,000 a year. Of the baker's dozen of Democrats who voted against the Bryan proposition, Representative Shirley of Kentucky, a member of the judiciary committee, who has high standing in the house as a legal expert and constitutional expounder, advanced the idea that the Cullop amendment was unconstitutional, inasmuch as the power to appoint and confirm judges is now vested in the president and United States senate.

MOB'S BAD WORK

Four Probably Innocent Persons Put to Death in Georgia.

Hamilton, Ga., Jan. 25.—Following the lynching here on Monday night of four negroes, one of them a mulatto girl, for the alleged murder of Norman Hadley, developments now indicate that the mob certainly put two innocent persons to death and probably three. And there is no real evidence that the fourth negro had anything to do with the killing.

It is certain that Bertha Hathaway, the girl, was innocent, and it is said that John Cruikshank and Herbert Henderson, two of the three men lynched, could have established alibis. Hadley was an unmarried planter and it is said he was infatuated with the girl Bertha Hathaway. He had been pursuing her and had been warned to keep away. He disregarded the warning, however, and Sunday afternoon went to the girl's home and tried to get her to come out and meet him. While Hadley was at the girl's home he was shot, but no one knows by whom. Henry Anderson, one of the negroes lynched, is said to have wanted to marry the girl, and it is possible that he shot the young planter.

Bertha Hathaway said Hadley was shot by someone from ambush while he was calling to her to come to him. The developments have caused great indignation and a determined effort will be made to identify the members of the mob.

Not Much Taken With Them.

Peking, Jan. 25.—A New York exporter who has examined the treasures of the imperial palace at Mukden, Manchuria, says the 40,000 pieces of porcelain there are practically worthless. The best of the porcelains have been removed, but there are pearls, gold bronzes and objects of art which are highly valuable.

Argument in Progress.

Noblesville, Ind., Jan. 25.—The argument in the case against Harry Hiatt, charged with the murder of his wife, is in progress today. Judge Vestal announced that he will not limit the time of the arguments, and as there are six speeches to be made, the case will not reach the jury before tomorrow noon.

The Whitecap Jury.

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 25.—Among the jurors in the McFarland whitecap case are Professors Cummings and Tilden, members of the faculty of Indiana university, and Rev. C. M. Kroft, the pastor of the Eighth Street M. E. church. Six of the others are farmers.

VOODOOISM TOO MUCH FOR LAW

Authorities Unable to Get a Single Clue.

NEGROES CLOSE THEIR LIPS

All Known Methods Have Been Adopted to Extract Information From the Members of "Sanctified Sect" in Connection With Horrid Series of Voodoo Murders, but the Negroes Simply Cannot Be Made to Talk.

New Orleans, Jan. 25.—A bucket set to catch the dripping blood and brains; an ax used as the instrument of sacrifice; the beds in their homes, the altars and knowledge of negro superstition are the only clues detectives have so far found in the efforts to trail down, in the Louisiana rice belt, the negro "sacrifice sect" which has murdered five colored families, twenty-six persons, within the last year. A telegram from Lake Charles told of the finding of a mysterious book, at first thought to be the ritual of the cult, but examination proved it to be only a set of meaningless figures. The investigators of the crime series are baffled and ready to quit. A man who has been connected with a detective agency for thirty years has returned from Crowley and admits his failure. "The negroes simply will not talk at all," he said. "I tried every known method of loosening their tongues, but to no avail. Men were made drunk, but mention of the last crime blamed upon the sacrifice sect, the Broussard murder of five persons at Lake Charles, restored them to sobriety. Women cried and went into hysterics, but when asked about doings of the "sanctified church" they simply shut their mouths and kept them shut. If the law ever makes out a case, it will be unable to secure a single conviction. It is one of those cases the law cannot cover."

Not a member of the congregation of the Rev. King Harrison, the negro minister, held in connection with the crime, will say a word against him. All admit he is a "powerful strong preacher," but no man's word vouches for the charge that he urged the practice of human sacrifice.

FRIENDLY SETTLEMENT

How France and Italy Will Avoid Serious Friction.

Paris, Jan. 25.—The Italian and French diplomats who are handling the matter of the seizure of the French steamer Manoubia and the arrest and imprisonment by the Italian warships of the twenty-nine members of the Turkish Red Crescent society, are arranging a protocol under the terms of which the Turks will be handed over to France. An Italian warship will take the twenty-nine men from Cagliari and proceed to some point outside, where they will be handed over to a warship of France amid the booming of guns and the dipping of flags. The diplomats will also arrange for the landing of the Turks at some neutral point. It is feared there might be a popular demonstration if they were landed either at Marseilles or Tunis.

Italians Seeking Contraband.

Tunis, Jan. 25.—Italian warships are still busy stopping steamships suspected of carrying contraband. Several Italian destroyers stopped the French steamer Tafna outside Gabes, and after an examination, permitted her to proceed. The Tunisian steamship Eugene Resel was held by a flotilla of Italian destroyers twenty miles off Djerba, but was allowed to continue on her course after an examination of her papers.

A GOLDEN CLUE

Conspicuously Brilliant Teeth Prove Undoing of Anderson Man.

Anderson, Ind., Jan. 25.—Charles and Albert Ferguson, brothers, of this city, were arrested on a charge of larceny. They were accused of stealing gas fixtures from vacant houses. A neighbor who observed two men taking gas fixtures from an empty cottage noticed that one of the men had gold teeth and he was so described to the police. With gold teeth as the only clue the police arrested Charles Ferguson, who displayed two gold teeth. He had been arrested before on charges of larceny.

This will be the second time this season that the two teams have played, Shelbyville winning the first by a score of 21 to 16. The Rushville team, while weakened by the loss of Petry, expects to make a good showing and an effort will be made to win the game. The local team has improved since Shelbyville played here and they may be handed a surprise. The contest will be played in the new high school gym.

AMUSEMENTS

A benefit show for Miss Curtis Lore will be given tomorrow night at the Portola by Mrs. West and the Emanon club. Special pictures and music will be on the program. Tonight the first picture is a Vitagraph, "The Girl and the Sheriff." It is a sensational western picture. The other is an Edison comedy, "Ludwig From Germany."

The Princess will show as the first picture tonight a Kalem drama, "When California Was Won." It is a thrilling picture based on the California revolution. The other picture is an Edison educational film entitled, "The Young Men's Christian Association." It is an interesting picture, telling of a great work.

"The Crusaders" or "Jerusalem Delivered" at the Palace last night proved to be a very spectacular picture. It will be the attraction again tonight. The picture is taken from the poem of Tasso and tells a beautiful tale surrounding the Crusades. In this portrayal the imagination is outwitted by the clever staging, the historically accurate costumes and settings, the marvelous details and the impressions of the scenes, and in bringing before the eyes the very landscapes of these encounters of the days of yore.

The PHANTOM OF THE OPERA

By Gaston Leroux

Author of

THE MYSTERY OF THE YELLOW RACE
and THE PERFUME OF THE LADY IN BLACK.

Illustrations by M. G. Kettner
Copyright 1911 by The Bobbs-Merrill Company

Monsieur:

"I have not forgotten the little boy who went into the sea to rescue my pearl. I feel that I must write to you today, when I am going to Perros, in fulfillment of a sacred duty. Tomorrow is the anniversary of the death of my poor father, whom you knew and who was very fond of you. He is buried there, with his violin, in the graveyard of the little church, at the bottom of the slope where we used to play as children, beside the road where, when we were a little bigger, we said good-bye for the last time."

The Vicomte de Chagny hurriedly consulted a railway guide, dressed as quickly as he could, wrote a few lines for his valet to take to his brother and jumped into a cab which brought him to the Gare Montparnasse just in time to miss the morning train. He spent a dismal day in town and did not recover his spirits until the evening, when he was seated in his compartment in the Brittany express. He read Christine's note over and over again, smelling its perfume, recalling the sweet pictures of his childhood, and spent the rest of that tedious night journey in feverish dreams that began and ended with Christine Daee. Day was breaking when he alighted at Lannion. He hurried to the diligence for Perros-Guirec. He was the only passenger. He questioned the driver and learned that, on the evening of the previous day, a young lady who looked like a Parisian had gone to Perros and put up at the inn known as the Setting Sun.

The nearer he drew to her, the more fondly he remembered the story of the little Swedish singer. Most of the details are still unknown to the public.

There was once, in a little market-town not far from Upsala, a peasant who lived there with his family, digging the earth during the week and singing in the choir on Sundays. This peasant had a little daughter to whom he taught the musical alphabet before she knew how to read. Daee's father was a great musician, perhaps without knowing it. Not a fiddler throughout the length and breadth of Scandinavia played as he did. His reputation was widespread and he was always invited to set the couples dancing at weddings and other festivals. His wife died when Christine was entering upon her sixth year. Then the father, who cared only for his daughter and his music, sold his patch of ground and went to Upsala in search of fame and fortune. He found nothing but poverty.

He returned to the country, wandering from fair to fair, strumming his Scandinavian melodies, while his child, who never left his side, listened to him in ecstasy or sang to his playing. One day, at Ljimbj fair, Professor Valerius heard them and took them to Gothenburg. He maintained that the father was the first violinist in the world and that the daughter had the making of a great artist. Her education and instruction were provided for. She made rapid progress and charmed everybody with her prettiness, her grace of manner and her genuine eagerness to please.

When Valerius and his wife went to settle in France, they took Daee and Christine with them. "Mamma" Valerius treated Christine as her daughter. As for Daee, he began to pine away with homesickness. He never went out of doors in Paris, but lived in a sort of dream which he kept up with his violin. For hours at a time, he remained locked up in his bedroom with his daughter, fiddling and singing, very, very softly. Sometimes Mamma Valerius would come and listen behind the door, wipe away a tear and go downstairs again on tiptoe, sighing for her Scandinavian skies.

Daee seemed not to recover his strength until the summer, when the whole family went to stay at Perros-Guirec, in a far-away corner of Brittany, where the sea was of the same color as in his own country. Often he would play his saddest tunes on the beach and pretend that the sea stopped its roaring to listen to them. And then he induced Mamma Valerius to indulge a queer whim of his. At the time of the "pardons," or Breton pilgrimages, the village festival and dances, he went off with his fiddle, as in the old days, and was allowed to take his daughter with him for a week. They gave the smallest hamlets music to last them for a year and slept at night in a barn, refusing a bed at the inn, lying close together on the straw, as when they were so poor in Sweden. At the same time they were very neatly dressed, made no collection, refused the halpence offered them; and the people around could not understand the conduct of this rustic fiddler, who tramped the roads with that pretty child who sang like an angel from heaven. They followed them from village to village.

One day, a little boy, who was out with his governess, made her take a longer walk than he intended, for he could not tear himself from the little girl whose pure, sweet voice seemed to bind him to her. They came to the shore of an inlet which is still called Trestraou, but which now, I believe, harbors a casino or something of the sort. At that time there was nothing but sky and sea and a stretch of golden beach. Only, there was also a high wind, which blew Christine's scarf out to sea. Christine gave a cry and put out her arms, but the scarf was already far on the waves. Then she heard a voice say: "It's all right, I'll go and fetch your scarf out of the sea."

And she saw a little boy running fast, in spite of the outcries and the indignant protests of a worthy lady in black. The little boy ran into the sea, dressed as he was, and brought her back her scarf. Boy and scarf were both soaked through. The lady in black made a great fuss, but Christine laughed merrily and kissed the little boy, who was none other than the Vicomte Raoul de Chagny, staying at Lannion with his aunt.

During the season they saw each other and played together almost every day. At the aunt's request, seconded by Professor Valerius, Daee consented to give the young viscount some violin lessons. In this way Raoul learned to love the same airs that had charmed Christine's childhood. They also both had the same calm and dreamy little cast of mind. They delighted in stories, in old Breton legends; and their favorite sport was to go and ask for them at the cottage-doors, like beggars:

"Ma'am . . . or, 'Kind gentleman . . . have you a little story to tell us, please?'"

And it seldom happened that they did not have one "given" them; for nearly every old Breton grandame has, at least once in her life, seen the "korrigans" dance by moonlight on the heather.

But their great treat was, in the twilight, in the great silence of the evening, after the sun had set in the sea, when Daee came and sat down by them on the roadside and, in a low voice, as though fearing lest he should frighten the ghosts whom he evoked, told them the legends of the land of the north. And, the moment he stopped, the children would ask for more.

There was one story that began: "A king sat in a little boat on one of those deep, still lakes that open like a bright eye in the midst of the Norwegian mountains . . ."

And another: "Little Lotte thought of everything and nothing. Her hair was golden as the sun's rays and her soul as clear Little Christine Asked Her Father if He Had Heard the Angel of Music.

and blue as her eyes. She wheedled her mother, was kind to her doll, took great care of her frock and her little red shoes and her fiddle, but most of all loved, when she went to sleep, to hear the Angel of Music."

While the old man told this story, Raoul looked at Christine's blue eyes and golden hair; and Christine thought that Lotte was very lucky to hear the Angel of Music when she went to sleep. The Angel of Music played a part in all Daddy Daee's tales; and he maintained that every great musician, every great artist received a visit from the Angel at least once in his life. Sometimes the Angel leans over their cradle, as happened to Lotte, and that is how there are little prodigies who play the fiddle at six better than men at fifty, which, you must admit, is very wonderful. Sometimes, the Angel comes much later, because the children are naughty and won't learn their lessons or practice their scales. And, sometimes, he does not come at all, because the children have a bad heart or a bad conscience.

None one ever sees the Angel; but he is heard by those who are meant to hear him. He often comes when they least expect him, when they are sad and disheartened. Then their ears suddenly perceive celestial harmonies, a divine voice, which they remember all their lives. Persons who are visited by the Angel quiver with a thrill unknown to the rest of mankind. And they cannot touch an instrument, or open their mouths to sing, without producing sounds that put all other human sounds to shame. Then people who do not know that the Angel has visited those persons say that they have genius.

Little Christine asked her father if he had heard the Angel of Music. But Daddy Daee shook his head sadly; and then his eyes lit up, as he said: "You will hear him one day, my child! When I am in heaven, I will send him to you!"

Daddy was beginning to cough at that time.

Three years later, Raoul and Christine met again at Perros. Professor Valerius was dead, but his widow remained in France with Daddy Daee and his daughter, who continued to play the violin and sing, wrapping in their dream of harmony their kind patroness, who seemed henceforth to live on music alone. The young man, as he now was, had come to Perros on the chance of finding them and went straight to the house in which they used to stay. He first saw the old man; and then Christine entered, carrying the tea-tray. She flushed at the sight of Raoul, who went up to her and kissed her. She asked him a few questions, performed her duties as hostess prettily, took up the tray again and left the room. Then she ran into the garden and took refuge on a bench, a prey to feelings that stirred her young heart for the first time. Raoul followed her and they talked till the evening, very shyly. They were quite changed, cautious as two diplomatists, and told each other things that had nothing to do with their budding sentiments. When they took leave of each other by the roadside, Raoul, pressing a kiss on Christine's trembling hand, said:

"Mademoiselle, I shall never forget you!"

And he went away regretting his words, for he knew that Christine could not be the wife of the Vicomte de Chagny.

As for Christine, she tried not to think of him and devoted herself wholly to her art. She made wonderful progress and those who heard her prophesied that she would be the greatest singer in the world. Meanwhile, the father died; and, suddenly, she seemed to have lost, with him, her voice, her soul and her genius. She retained just, but only just, enough of this to enter the conservatoire, where she did not distinguish herself at all, attending the classes without enthusiasm and taking a prize only to please old Mamma Valerius, with whom she continued to live.

The first time that Raoul saw Christine at the opera, he was charmed by the girl's beauty and by the sweet images of the past which it evoked, but was rather surprised at the negative side of her art. He returned to listen to her. He followed her in the wings. He waited for her behind a Jacob's ladder. He tried to attract her attention. More than once, he walked after her to the door of her box, but she did not see him. She seemed, for that matter, to see nobody. She was all indifference, Raoul suffered, for she was very beautiful and he was shy and dared not confess his love, even to himself. And then came the lightning-flash of the gala performance—the heavens torn asunder and an angel's voice heard upon earth for the delight of mankind and the utter capture of his heart.

And then . . . and then there was that man's voice behind the door—"You must love me!"—and no one in the room.

Why did she laugh when he reminded her of the incident of the scarf? Why did she not recognize him? And why had she written to him? . . . Perros was reached at last. Raoul walked into the smoky sitting-room of the Setting Sun and at once saw Christine standing before him, smiling and showing no astonishment.

"So you have come?" she said. "I felt that I should find you here, when I came back from mass. Some one told me so, at the church."

"Who?" asked Raoul, taking her little hand in his.

"Why, my poor father, who is dead."

There was a silence; and then Raoul asked:

"Did your father tell you that I love you, Christine, and that I cannot live without you?"

Christine blushed to the eyes and turned away her head. In a trembling voice, she said:

"Me? You are dreaming, my friend!"

And she burst out laughing, to put herself in countenance.

"Don't laugh, Christine; I am quite serious," Raoul answered.

And she replied gravely: "I did not make you come to tell me such things as that."

"You made me come," Christine; you knew that your letter would not leave me indifferent and that I should hasten to Perros. How can you have thought that, if you did not think I loved you?"

"I thought you would remember our games here, as children, in which my father so often joined. I really don't know what I thought. . . . Perhaps I was wrong to write to you."

This anniversary and your sudden appearance in my room at the opera the other evening reminded me of the time long past and made me write to you as the little girl that I then was. . . .

There was something in Christine's attitude that seemed to Raoul not natural. He did not feel any hostility in her; far from it; the distressed affection shining in her eyes told him that. But why was this affection distressed? That was what he wished to know and what was irritating him.

"When you saw me in your dressing-room, was that the first time you noticed me, Christine?"

She was incapable of lying. "No," she said, "I had seen you several times in your brother's box. And also on the stage!"

"I thought so!" said Raoul, compressing his lips. "But then why, when you saw me in your room, at your feet, reminding you that I had rescued your scarf from the sea, why did you answer as though you did not know me and also why did you laugh?"

The tone of these questions was so rough that Christine stared at Raoul without replying. The young man himself was aghast at the sudden quarrel which he had dared to raise at the very moment when he had resolved to speak words of gentleness, love and submission to Christine. A husband, a lover with all rights, would talk no differently to a wife, a mistress who had offended him. But he had gone too far and saw no other way out of the ridiculous position than to behave odiously.

"You don't answer!" he said angrily and unhappily. "Well, I will answer for you. It was because there was some one in the room who was in your way, Christine, some one that you did not wish to know that you could be interested in any one else!"

"If any one was in my way, my friend," Christine broke in coldly, "if any one was in my way, that evening, it was yourself, since I told you to leave the room!"

"Yes, so that you might remain with the other!"

"What are you saying, monsieur?" asked the girl excitedly. "And to what other do you refer?"

"To the man to whom you said, 'I sing only for you! . . . tonight I gave you my soul and I am dead!'"

Christine seized Raoul's arm and clutched it with a strength which no one would have suspected in so frail a creature.

"Then you were listening behind the door?"

"Yes, because I love you . . . And I heard everything. . . ."

"You heard what?"

And the young girl, becoming strangely calm, released Raoul's arm.

This is the verdict of R. J. Howell, Tracy, O., who bought Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for his wife. "Her case was worst I have ever seen, and looked like a sure case of consumption. PAPER BAG COOKING

Great System Perfected by M. Soyer, Famous London Chef.

TWO DINNER MENUS.

By Martha McCulloch Williams. Here is a dinner menu, easy but nourishing, not so costly, and capable of being prepared, cooked, and served inside two hours:

Roast Beef, Stuffed Rolled Round
Sliced Potatoes Baked Apples
Cold Slaw
Banana Puffs

Black Coffee Salted Peanuts

Have the round cut rather long and as thick as need be. Butter it on both sides, salt and pepper lightly, cover the upper side with bread crumb stuffing seasoned with onion, roll up, tie and seal in well-greased bag with a lump of butter or clarified dripping and a spoonful of water. Put in a hot oven for three minutes, slack heat, and cook until done, allowing fifteen to twenty minutes to the pound. If tomatoes are at hand, put one or two, peeled and sliced, in with the meat. The gravy will be better and the meat itself more piquant.

Slice peeled potatoes thin, drop in cold water, drain out, put in a greased bag after sprinkling very lightly with salt, add a little extra grease, seal and cook fifteen to thirty minutes in a fairly hot oven, the time depending on the quantity in the bag.

Wash the apples well, but do not peel, cut out specks and bruises, core, fill the bottom of the core-space with a lump of butter, over which pile sugar, and add a bit of cinnamon. A clove stuck in the side may take the place of the cinnamon. Seal inside a well-greased bag, and bake eighteen to twenty minutes in a fairly hot oven.

Make cold slaw in the usual way, and the salted peanuts as follows, after blanching and drying them: Put in a thickly-buttered bag, set in a very hot oven for half minute, then reduce the heat three-quarters, and leave nuts to brown for ten minutes longer. They will come out crisp and beautiful, needing only a sprinkling of salt.

To make the banana puffs, roll out good puff paste a quarter-inch thick and cut it in squares six inches across. Cover half of each square diagonally with bananas sliced thin and soaked for half an hour in sugar and lemon bag and bake twelve minutes in a hot oven. Bananas, always cheap, and among the most nourishing of the fruits, ought to be more used in cooking.

Here is another good meal for a winter day:

Pork Tenderloin, Roasted with Sweet Potatoes
Cabbage Pudding Stewed Carrots
Celery

Apple Dumplings, Cider Sauce
Coffee Cheese Crackers

Have the tenderloins split lengthwise and cut them in halves. Wipe with a clean, damp cloth, rub over with butter or dripping, season lightly with salt and pepper, and lay in a well-greased bag along with raw sweet potatoes, peeled and halved, or quartered if very large. Add a lump of fat, butter or dripping, rolled in a little flour, also a tablespoonful of water. Seal bag and cook in a hot oven thirty-five minutes to an hour, according to the quantity of food in the bag. Slack that after five minutes. Slow, steady cooking makes the meat tender, yet full of flavor.

Choose a tender cabbage for the pudding. Shred it fine, then drop in boiling salted water and cook uncovered at full boil, ten minutes. Drain out, run cold water through it, then mix it thoroughly through a pint of milk which has been beaten well with two eggs, and season with salt and pepper. If the cabbage is small, use one egg and half a pint of milk. Have the bag very thickly greased and sprinkle it inside with grated cheese. Put in the mixture by big spoonfuls, add a lump of butter and sprinkle in more cheese between the spoonfuls. Seal very tight, lay on a trivet, put in a hot oven for three minutes, then slack heat, and cook for at least an hour.

Scrape carrots as usual, cut them in pieces and put into a buttered bag with half a gill of stock, a dot of butter and salt and pepper to taste. Cook thirty-five to forty-five minutes at a moderate heat.

Apple dumplings are apple dumplings in or out of bags. Their goodness depends on three things—the paste, the maker and the cooking. The apple is hardly more than a vehicle to hold sweets and spices and accent the tang of them.

Make real puff paste for your dumplings, roll it a quarter-inch thick, fit it neatly around the apples, which should be liberally treated with sugar and butter, not to name lemon peel and cinnamon, put in a thickly-buttered bag with a small lump of butter and a spoonful of sugar, and cook for twenty to twenty-five minutes in a fairly hot oven.

For cider sauce, cream half a cup of butter, frothy light, beat into it a heaping cup of sugar, then set over hot water and add gradually a cup of fresh sweet cider, hot but not boiling. Beat hard together, grate nutmeg over, and serve very hot.

The cheese crackers are lightly buttered, sprinkled with parmesan, and heated inside a bag for about five minutes.

MUCH NEW EVIDENCE IN DYNAMITERS' CASE

Government Receiving All Kinds of Volunteer Testimony.

Indianapolis, Jan. 25.—The government officials in charge of the dynamite investigation have received within the past few days a number of letters from persons who claim to have inside knowledge of the dynamiting conspiracy, and they have offered to come here and testify. Some of these letters, it is said, are from men who had inside information and their requests have been granted, but in other cases the officials are in possession of all that they profess to know. It is believed that some of these voluntary witnesses believe that they are liable to be caught in the government net, and they are seeking immunity by offering to tell all they know.

It has been learned that the investigation as originally planned would have been completed by this time, had not its scope become broadened by the discovery of new evidence since the Indianapolis investigation began. The government, it has been learned, has in its possession not only evidence previously unheard of, but evidence against several men whose criminal connection with the dynamite conspiracy had not been suggested three months ago. Evidence along this line has been introduced from time to time, usually being brought here soon after the first hints of its existence.

Evidence bearing on nearly every one of the more than one hundred explosions which are charged up against members of the iron workers' union, has already been laid before the federal grand jury, it is said, and the bulk of the work remaining to be done is to go more deeply into certain phases of the case which had already been developed to some extent.

PRISON FOR BOSS

Atlantic City's Political Ruler Sent to Prison For Grafting.

Mays Landing, N. J., Jan. 25.—Louis Kuehnle stood up before Justice Samuel Kalish in the supreme court here and was sentenced to one year in prison at hard labor, and a fine of $1,000. "The Commodore," as he was called by those whom he has ruled in Atlantic county for many years, never budged, but the little courtroom packed with persons gasped at the falling of the idol.

Republican politicians walked out of the courtroom wondering what was going to happen to their once supreme sway in Atlantic, now that the boss had gone.

Kuehnle was convicted of awarding a contract for the construction of a timber water conduit across the meadows, to a concern in which he was indirectly interested, while he was water commissioner of Atlantic City.

Scotland Yard on the Trail.
London, Jan. 25.—The officials of Scotland Yard believe they are hot on the trail of an American woman and a male accomplice who are accused of a robbery of jewels valued at $100,000, from Noury of Paris. Some of the jewelry has been found in the shops of London pawnbrokers. The police admit that they know the people who are wanted, but refuse to give their names.

Charged With Killing Farmer.
Bedford, Ind., Jan. 25.—The trial of Charles Mitchell, Joseph Fultz and Oliver Younger, charged with first degree murder, is in progress in the circuit court. They are charged with killing James Mitchell, an aged farmer, on the night of Nov. 4, and robbing him of $100.

Boy Suicide in Schoolroom.
Mt. Vernon, Ind., Jan. 25.—Charles Wilson, a high school pupil of Cynthiana, committed suicide by swallowing poison, dying while in the schoolroom. The cause is unknown.

CAUSES SICKNESS

Good Health Impossible With a Disordered Stomach.

There is nothing that will create sickness or cause more trouble than a disordered stomach, and many people daily contract serious maladies simply through disregard or abuse of the stomach.

We urge every one suffering from any stomach derangement, indigestion, or dyspepsia, whether acute or chronic, to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, with the distinct understanding that we will refund their money without question or formality, if after reasonable use of this medicine they are not satisfied with the results. We recommended them to our customers every day, and have yet to hear of any one who has not been benefited by them. Three sizes, 25c., 50c., and $1.00 a box. Sold in Rushville only at our store—The Rexall Store, Lytle's Drug Store, Corner Third and Main streets.

POULTRY NOTES

Eggs now are at their highest. The best breed is one that suits one's purpose best.

A little salt and pepper mixed with the mash is good for the hens. Hens must be fed, and fed a long time, before the eggs will come.

Breeding turkeys can be profitably kept up to the fifth and sixth year. The cost of feed for geese is small, compared with that for other market fowls.

When at all indisposed, a turkey should be separated from the rest of the flock.

Ducks and geese require deep drinking vessels, especially if reared and kept on land.

A hen, like a human being, needs to be made comfortable in order to do the best work.

As soon as the breeding season is over the male birds should be separated from the hens. The business of our domestic hen is to produce plenty of eggs, and we must feed her for them.

Begin to select your breeders for next year and cull out and sell those that you have not room for this winter.

Goods and Goods.
At the approach of the angel with the flaming sword Adam bent upon Eve a glance of profound consternation. "We are caught," he exclaimed, "with the goods on!" "Not dry goods, at all events!" giggled the first mother, nervously, as with a consciousness that it was too late for a bon mot, however clever, to save the situation.—Puck.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT

Governor General of Canada
Calls at White House Today.

THE PRESIDENT HAS A ROYAL VISITOR

Duke of Connaught Calls at the White House.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Before returning to his duties as governor general of Canada, the Duke of Connaught, who came to New York with the duchess and their daughter, the Princess Patricia, came to Washington today for a call on President Taft. When the only surviving son of the late Queen Victoria accepted an invitation to come to New York to visit the family of Whitelaw Reid, the American ambassador to England, he had in mind also the possibility of a call on the president of the United States. But being familiar with the unelastic programs of rulers and remembering President Taft's frequent absences from Washington, the duke did not desire to tie the president to the White House if the president had made other arrangements for any particular day. On arriving he learned from Ambassador Reid, however, that the president would be free to receive him today and that the president had expressed an earnest wish that he find it convenient to extend his visit to Washington. Accompanied by Colonel Lowther, his military secretary, the duke arrived here at 4:20 this afternoon. They will call on the president at 5. James Bryce, the British ambassador, will be the duke's host at dinner this evening. The duke and Colonel Lowther will leave Washington for New York on the midnight train. The visit to the president lengthens by one day the duke's stay in this country. He will start for Ottawa at 7:40 p. m. tomorrow.

BLOWS NOT HARD ENOUGH TO HURT

Dr. T. C. Waltermire and Lon Mull

Had a Little Scrap Down at Manilla.

THAT MEDDLESOME TONGUE

Shelbyville Republican Says Lon Held Doc's Hands and Then

Let Him Go.

Rumors have been current here all this week concerning a little fistie encounter which was staged in Dr. T. C. Waltermire's office in Manilla, where a fire occurred recently. Lon Mull, erstwhile candidate for the Democratic nomination for congress from this district and a prominent and wealthy resident of Manilla, is alleged to have been the other participant. But it was not as bad as it was rumored to be, according to the following from the Shelbyville Republican:

Lon Mull, the prominent sage of Manilla, got his eyes gloriously blacked and his nose set over on the side of his face last night, was the report that flew thick and fast on the streets of Shelbyville Wednesday morning. But happily this is not all true. Inquiry into the matter developed the fact that Lon and Dr. Waltermire, a prominent physician of the same village, did have a slight misunderstanding and a little set-to, but as far as Lon's eyes and nose are concerned they are still of their natural color and on the right part of his face. The two men are both known as the best of fellows, and farther, no one thought that either had the grit of a rabbit when it came to a fistie encounter.

But as in the black eyes and unjointed nose report, this, too, is a mistake. They both have grit. While not as expert with their "dukes" as Jim Jeffries or Jack Johnson, neither knowing as much about the upper-cuts, short-arm jabs or jui-jitsus as Battling Nelson, they have the grit just the same.

The trouble, as frequently happens, originated from the meddlesome tongue, made so by the use of too much lubricant in the form of "old squirrel" of some one, who reported to Alonzo on the train from Shelbyville to Manilla that Dr. Waltermire had spoken disrespectfully of Mr. Mull, and had called him reproachful names and so on.

Wounded by such harsh terms, Mr. Mull went at once to the office of Dr. Waltermire when he reached Manilla, and made inquiry of the doctor why he had spoken of him in such terms. The doctor denied that such statements had ever been made by him. The altercation waxed warm, the lie was passed and the fight was on. The doctor made one of those swinging blows of his, not unlike an old woman, and whether it hit the medicine case or is still suspended in the
